Recount Is Saturday

A full recount of the 8,465 votes cast for governor in the Nov. 6 election will be held Saturday morning.

Town Clerk Irving O. Piper has teams of experienced election workers ready for the morning's event. And to be certain that there will be plenty of room, he has scheduled the recount for the cafeteria of the Junior High School. Space is an essential - in all, 100 observers are expected for the two candidates. Gov.-Elect Indict Peabody and Gov. John A. Volpe are entitled to two representatives apiece at each table, plus one other person each. The latter, usually a lawyer, makes decisions as to whether ballots should be challenged or not.

If the two minority candidates for the office - Henning A. Blomen and Guy S. Williams - should also want to be represented, they are entitled to the same number.

Notices to all of the candidates have been mailed in accordance

West Parish Dr. May Be Accepted

If two town officials agree, West Parish rd. may become an accepted street.

The town engineer and the fire chief have been asked to give written opinions on two questions: Are fire alarm boxes really needed in the West Center Acres development?

Are the edges of the road in sufficiently good shape to allow a $4,200 bond to be released?

If the answer to both questions is yes, the Selectmen have agreed to accept $1,500 from developer Albert E. Schlott for a final surface, and to accept the street. Represented by Atty. Vincent A. Stulgis, the developer has made the offer, contingent upon agreement to give back a bond held by the Planning Board, covering the fire alarm boxes and road "verges".

The Planning Board, through Chairman Harold King, said fire alarm boxes have been waived for

SANTA CLAUS WILL BE HERE DEC. 8

Local small fry are saving the afternoon of Dec. 8 for a special treat - the annual Santa Claus parade.

Starting at 1 p.m., the parade will feature Santa, atop one of the fire department's brightest, shiniest fire engines. Bands, floats and marching units will take part.

But best of all, for the youngsters, will be gifts directly from Santa, seated in the sleigh outside the fire station.

The parade will proceed up North Main st. from the Shawshen Plaza, along Main to Punchard ave., to Bartlet and then to Park st. and the fire station. The two high school bands, the Pontiac Club marching unit and several floats are already signed up, according to Fire Lt. Raymond LaRosa, chairman.

The Planning Board will hold a hearing Dec. 10 in town hall on several substantial changes in the Board's rules and regulations for developers.

Chairman Harold O. King told the Selectmen Monday night that regulations are being spelled out for developers, including the process required of them in order to gain street acceptances. Although this is a Selectmen's responsibility, Mr. King suggested that the procedure, and all of the construction requirements, be spelled out by the Planning Board. This will put an end to misunderstandings on the subject, he noted.

Additionally, the Planning Board intends to have all jobs inspected - and special cards will be signed by the inspectors - at regular intervals. This will require the help of the town engineer and the superintendent of highways.

The plan is to have inspections (Continued on Page 15)

Pay Hikes Are Considered

Full disclosure of all pay raise plans for school system personnel will be made at the School Committee meeting Dec. 4.

The Committee has received suggestions from the Teachers Association, from the administrators and from the Committee's own sub-committee. But the latter plan has not been revealed, pending submission to the teachers' committee for study.

The Association request covered these areas:

A $200 increase in each step as of Jan. 1, 1963 - to cover the state requirement that the minimum be pegged at $4,500. It is now $4,300, and to raise the minimum, all steps in the scale have to be increased by the same amount.

Andover In Russian Paper

Andover hit the Russian newspapers for almost three columns of space recently.

The story, apparently written in a friendly vein, gave coverage to the meeting at Phillips Academy of several Russians and Americans. Their talks ranged through many fields.

A copy of the story, with a headline translated as "Dialog Is Continued", was sent to Mrs. George Forsythe of Chester st., Ballardvale, by her husband. He has been working in Russia for

How to Succeed in Business Borrowing (By Really Trying)

- A CASE HISTORY

About three years ago, when the CO-OP decided to go ahead with its Renewal and Expansion Program, we asked our members and friends for the loan of a cool $75,000.00. Without using any pressure of any kind, we were offered and we accepted a cool, cool $104,925.00!

Why did private citizens oversubscribe by loaning us over a tenth of a million dollars?

We think it is related to our credit rating in this community, and that in turn has a lot to do with how a loan is paid off.

We ran into a special problem in carrying out our original plan to pay off 10% per year. When we asked our friends to let us know if they wanted their money back, we found too few takers and had to draw most names by lot. But the reluctance of people to take their money back is only a symptom.

The real cause of a high credit rating, we think, is accelerated repayment. In less than three years, we have paid back $51,045.00 or almost half of our ten-year loan.

That, we suggest, is how to succeed in business borrowing - by really trying.

Retelle Heads AVIS Again

Miss Katherine Tousey of the Massachusetts Audubon Society Staff narrated the color film "Audubon's America" at the annual meeting of the Andover Village Improvement Society Monday, at the Central Elementary School.

The film shows the routes Audubon traveled in America when he painted portraits of the birds and other animals he saw. It depicts beautifully colored close-ups of birds feeding their nestling young, slow-motion films of birds gracefully approaching and taking off from their nests; their arrow-like, precision dives into the water for fish - all this against a background of the breathtaking beauty of sky, variegated vegetation, and water. To accompany the magnificent films Miss Tousey would occasionally add a touch of realism by imitating the calls of the birds as they appeared on the screen.

President Albert R. Retelle presided at the meeting. He called for committee reports and announced the resignation of Lester C. Newton as secretary. Three trustees who retired from the Board, after devoted service to the welfare, were Mrs. Fredric S. O'Brien, Miss Rebekah Taft and George S. Laaff.

The Nominating Committee of Mrs. Waters Kellogg and Mrs. Per Bro proposed the names of three new trustees: Mrs. John C. Brown, Kenneth S. Marshall, and Ronald Valentine; as Chairman of the Investment Committee, Edmond E. Hammond.

At the organizational meeting, the officers for 1962-63 were elected: president, Albert R. Retelle; first vice president, Harold R. Rafton; second vice president, Mrs. Waters Kellogg; third vice president, James S. Christopher; secretary, Mrs. John C. Brown; treasurer, David MacDonald Jr.

YOUNG PEOPLE SAW SOUTH END

Young people from the First Christian Church visited Boston's South End last week.

They presented two programs at the South End House, one for older persons and an evening program for young people. They enjoyed a guided tour through the area. Donald Amy directed the two musical programs. The group visited St. Stephen's Church, where they had supper.

Homemakers Heard About Business

The Indian Ridge Homemakers Club met at the home of Mary Walsh Nov. 28.

"Business Facts for Everyday Living" was the topic for the evening, with Mrs. Gladys Brown and Mrs. Gwen Hedrick as the show and tell team.

Mrs. Beverly Perron served as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Danforth and their family have returned to their home on Greenwood rd. after enjoying the holidays in Brewer, Me.

THANKSGIVING DINNER was served in all of the school cafeterias Nov. 20, with about 3,360 young people eating their fill. These children were at the South School — they seemed to prefer looking at photographer Al Cole, once they'd taken the edge off their appetites. (Cole)

Continue Experiment In Programmed Text Books

By Mrs. Henry DeCesare

The Andover Junior High School is continuing an experiment this year using programmed textbooks.

English 2600 consists of approximately 2600 steps or frames through which a pupil is taught some fundamentals of English grammar and usage. Each step, or frame, calls for a written response which requires both thinking and attention. The pupil reasons his way instead of being told and the book fuses explanation and exercise.

An important idea behind English 2600 is reinforcement, which means that a correct response is confirmed almost as soon as it is made, by a turn of the page. This method, theoretically, assures the pupil a more successful learning experience. He does not have to wait for a day or more to learn of his success or failure. He can, therefore, move ahead independently and at his own pace.

The advantages of this book (a kind of teaching machine) appear to be many, and it is being used in certain classes only, simply to establish and assure its most versatile use in Andover.

Up to the present time, its particular uses have been: (1) As a second textbook for three entire classes; (2) As a review book for individuals or groups within a class; (3) As a remedial text, used in whole or in part with individuals or groups.

In addition to the text, materials being used are: (1) answer sheets, (2) tests, (3) folders, (4) student record sheets, and (5) answer record sheets. By means of these materials, the teacher can keep track of the pupils' progress as they move along at their own rates.

There are many plans to which English 2600 lends itself effectively. A whole book approach in the classroom is the one being used this year. At designated periods during the week, students enter the classroom, take a textbook and answer sheet. This program is easily implemented by previous planning. Duties are allocated so that the pupils begin work immediately, move along at their own rate of speed, take the unit test when they are ready to accept (in personal conference) the criticism and advice of the teacher who has corrected the test, reviews if it is advisable or proceeds with the next unit. The teacher announces the end of the period so all can store materials in their proper places. The student knows where to begin because he records the frame number on the last answer sheet.

Since the text is designed for teaching, grades are not based on this work. Instead the teacher learns two things: (1) an estimate of how much success the pupil is having; and (2) an estimate, made in combination with other knowledge of the pupil, of the effort being made to do the program. Grades based on study of English 2600 are the combination of the result of the tests in the text booklets and teacher-made tests.

Women Will Hear Miss Eades

The Woman's Union of the First Christian Church will hold its Christmas meeting at the Church Wednesday evening, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Elizabeth Eades of the Phillips Academy Library staff will give a talk on "Books for Christmas". Miss Eades is a charming, gracious person who has much to say about books.

The Youth Choir of the First Church will sing several selections. Devotions will be led by Mrs. James Watt. Mrs. William Burnham will be the hostess for the evening.

Members are requested to bring their red Christmas bags filled for the Tewksbury project; bags will be available if more are needed.

Within a very few years, he predicted, the section of land around the unpaved portion of High Plain rd. will be built up, and the road widened. The chief spoke about trying to foresee at least 10 years into the future in picking a site for the station.

The building itself would be suitable for two pieces of apparatus - but only one would be housed there at first.

In taking specific action on acquiring the site, the Selectmen directed the manager to see that negotiations take place promptly. Harold Rafton, who has been chairman of the Land Committee, has resigned that position.

On-Stagers Present The Male Animal

Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 and 2, in the Collegiate Auditorium, the On-Stagers of Merrimack College will present James Thurber's hilarious comedy, "The Male Animal."

The play, directed by Dr. Jackson Davis, concerns itself with the theme of academic freedom of speech. The basic story involves Tommy Turner, a professor at Mid-Western University, who comes under the scrutiny of the University Trustees because of his desire to read to one of his classes a letter written by the infamous Vanzetti. Turner's problems are further intensified by the arrival of Joe Ferguson, his wife Ellen's former beau.

"The Male Animal" will be staged Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:15 and Saturday afternoon at 2:15. Reservations may be made by calling Merrimack College, between the hours of 1 to 9 p.m.

Youngsters To Present Play

Members of the Andover Junior Garden Club and their invited guests will attend a special Christmas program, a play entitled "Joy and Jimmy's Christmas Tree", at the regular monthly meeting, Saturday, Dec. 1, at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay State Bank Building.

The play, especially written for junior gardeners and Audubon Club members by Shirley Miller, is being directed by Mrs. Edward I. Erickson. The cast is as follows: Mother, Kathy Morrissey; Joy, Ruth Anderson; Jimmy, Anne Martellini; Daddy, Peter Buck; Deer, Cindy Johnson; Raccoon, Elaine Cronin; Owl, Debbie Newhouse.

Miss Sandra Butcher, president, and Miss Georgia Anderson, secretary of the Juniors, will act as hostesses for the program. Properties will be handled by Diane Phelps and Judy Volker.

Following the play, the group will go to the Historical House garden where a tree will be decorated with garlands of popcorn, cranberries and evergreen cones, which have been covered with suet and birdseed. These "tree feeders" provide shelter and food for birds during the winter months.

PAY RAISES ARE CONSIDERED

teachers' get more money - the payment is now $14 daily.

An increase in payment for master's degree, from $300 to $500.

That teachers be given an option of being paid on a 52-week basis.

That teachers now in the system be given the credit for all of their experience, and be placed accordingly on the schedule.

The Association also asked that a clear statement be made regarding reimbursement for courses taken to meet study requirements.

They wish to have all teachers with 30 credits get the master's degree increment.

Additionally, consideration is asked for a raise for the school nurses.

The administrators schedule involves a discussion of ratio payments. Basically, the administrators want to have the schedule adopted as proposed last year.

Under this plan, the administrator gets paid on a ratio base to the salary for a teacher with the equivalent experience and degrees.

During the discussion Tuesday night, the School Committee refused to openly talk about its own plan - the one being advised by the sub-committee. But Chairman Robert McIntyre indicated that merit and several other considerations are still being weighed. He noted that the teachers have, in the past, been angered by the appearance in the press of stories relating to School Committee proposals before the teachers have had a chance to see them. Thus, the Committee felt it should submit its plan to the teachers' salary committee before openly talking about it.

Baby Still On Critical List

Little Patricia Puchter remains in critical condition at Bon Secours Hospital this mid-week, following an accident Sunday evening on River rd.

The five-month-old tot and her mother, Nancy, fell out of a car driven by Daniel C. Puchter, of County rd., Windham. Mrs. Puchter was also admitted to the hospital for treatment of extensive abrasions.

Police said the Puchters were driving near the intersection of North st., when Mrs. Puchter realized her door was not closed tightly. She opened it to, with intentions of closing it properly, but fell out. She had the baby in her arms at the time.

There were five other children in the car at the time, according to investigating officers. Patrolmen Jacob Jacobson and Arthur Manock were detailed to the scene.

Ambulance Fees Remain Same

The Selectmen are going to leave present ambulance fees alone.

In answer to a written request from the Finance Committee, the Board has decided to recommend against any changes in the present system. The FinCom had earlier suggested that thought might be given to charging for this service.

At present, medical trips for residents are not charged - this being a service paid for by taxes, in the opinion of town officials. When accident trips can be paid for by insurance, this is done. Non-residents are charged for trips to hospitals.

About $250, sometimes more, is received annually for ambulance service, according to the fire chief.

with the law, which specifies that the candidates must have three days notice of the recount. It is anticipated in local political circles that Gov. Volpe and Gov. Peabody will be fully represented.

Any person representing a candidate must present written credentials to the registrars, before being allowed to enter the area set aside for counting.

Spectators will not be allowed inside this area, but there will be room for them to observe the proceedings if they wish, according to the town clerk.

In the election, Gov. Volpe received 5,800 votes to 2,665 for Mr. Peabody. If data from past recounts gives an indication for the future, there will be little change in the local results. Recounts held here previously usually show a change of half-a-dozen votes or fewer.

CHOIR WILL GIVE CONCERT

The Women's Alliance of the North Parish Church of North Andover will present a Christmas Concert by the Boys and Mens Choir of the Church of the Good Shepherd of Reading, Dec. 9, at 3:30.

The program will consist of Christmas Carols and hymns. The public is invited to the concert, which promises to be most enjoyable as this choir has earned a splendid reputation, having performed in many of the surrounding towns.

The teachers in the Weekday School are Mrs. Kenneth Minard, Mrs. J. Edison Pike, Mrs. Arthur Weaver, Mrs. John Murray and the Rev. Mr. Bartchy. Mrs. Harry Butler serves as secretary to the school. This is the 18th consecutive year that this school has been held in Andover on a "released" time" basis in cooperation with the Junior High School. another developer, and that there is some doubt as to their effectiveness anyway.

He also suggested that if the town engineer says the road edges are alright, the Planning Board will go along with releasing the bond.

The agreement - while not complete - comes much closer to a conclusion than had been the case for some time.

Atty. Stulgis, as he rose to speak Monday night, said the discussions on the subject at previous meetings were "not a true picture".

Instead of failing to reconstruct the road, as indicated previously, he said the town manager has stopped the maintenance procedures, by stating that hot top should be applied.

This was not required, the attorney noted.

He also said Town Manager

Thomas E. Duff had written the developer back in 1960, stating that the road was in good enough condition for acceptance.

Mr. Duff said this was done to help Mr. Schlott get some of a bond released - but that other details to do with the area made acceptance impossible then.

Since, he said, contractors' work has resulted in chewing up the road surface so that it needs to be fixed.

Mr. Stulgis insisted that Mr. Schlott now is willing to pay $1,500 to the town for the road surface, or "give it to charity" if the town doesn't want it. But that will be the end of the arrangement, the attorney asserted.

Lewis Family Together Again

The traditional Lewis family Thanksgiving Dinner Party was held last Thursday in the Auditorium of the West Church.

Over 50 members, young and old, gathered around the festive board at 1:30, where turkey and all the usual fixings were enjoyed. The various members of the family did the cooking and carving of the turkeys and other goodies which were consumed.

A social time followed the dinner and despite the gloomy weather outside, everyone seemed to enjoy the day inside.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

A Problem Deterrent

The Planning Board, in conference with the Board of Selectmen, has indicated that thorough inspection of all sub-division construction will be the keynote of the future.

Periodic inspections of all work performed, at various stages of completion, will be required.

This sounds, at first, to be a severe requirement; moreover, it's time consuming and expensive.

Yet, when the facts are examined, it's entirely logical.

The one great failing in most cities and towns is not the requirements on paper — it is the lack of complete inspection to see that restrictions are met.

This can only be done if the examination takes place at the various stages of completion — not by inspecting the job when it's finished and the workmanship and materials can not be seen in detail.

Many problems can be avoided; lots of trouble can be prevented by carrying out these inspections.

We hope there is no last-minute hitch in the plans, for this seems to be a worthwhile step.

Postponements Are Wise

Thanksgiving's traditional game — Andover vs North Andover — was played in ankle-deep mud, pools of water, in pelting rain.

It seems to us that this is needless, when the game can be postponed to Saturday, with an expectation that the weather will have improved.

There are reasons, of course, why college and professional teams meet, regardless of weather. Television schedules must be met and expenses are higher. But in high school, it seems a bit ridiculous to play in such foul weather, when there is the possibility of postponement. Only if there is no chance to re-schedule the game can we see playing it in such conditions.

Certainly the teams can't play their best — it's more mud-ball than football. And the spectators, however few there may be, can't enjoy the game nearly as much as they could on a dry day.

All in all, there doesn't seem to be much reason behind holding the game, but a lot of reasons can be marshalled for postponements.

At Last!

Public Safety Commissioner Frank Giles announced last week that some type of emergency communications system will be provided on Route 93, and other thru-ways.

This is exceptionally good news — there has been a real need for a system which will allow rapid contact between someone on the highway and a police authority. In the long run, lives will be saved by installing a system for emergency use.

There have been various excuses for not doing this in the past. One was to the effect that the national Bureau of Roads has to initiate such a system, because the highways are built with federal funds. But it seems that Commissioner Giles is cutting through the red tape to get some action.

This deserves everyone's commendation. Red tape won't save lives and property. A communications system will.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago — November, 1887
The Townsman is being printed with Andover ink, manufactured by William C. Donald and Son.

The Selectmen have issued a warrant for a special town meeting Monday, Dec. 12, at 3 1/2 p.m. to see if the town will vote to adopt an act passed by the last legislature entitled "To supply the town of Andover with water".

The Mansion House was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. Both the town steamer and the Phillips Boys' engine did good service in keeping the fire from the barn and brick house. The Ballardvale Company joined them at a later hour. The reservoir in front of the house held out for about an hour, then the one in front of the Abbott store was used.

The Rev. Henry R. Wilbur is improving the looks of one of his tenements on High st. with a new coat of paint.

The plan proposed that the town purchase horses for the combined use of the fire department and the road commissioners is drawing favorable support in Ballardvale.

The growing interest of Americans in gas and its possibilities should attract a large audience to hear Col. Price in the People's Course next Monday night.

50 Years Ago — November, 1912
Fred Swanton was elected master of Andover Grange last Tuesday evening.

Dr. W. D. Walker left town this week for a trip to Panama.

The Pynchard High School football team has elected Lester Abbott as captain for 1913.

Plans are being made for the opening of The Hillside, a modern, up-to-date boarding house, built in 1907 by the Smith and Dove Company for its own employees.

Joseph A. Smart, prominent local businessman, passed away at his home Wednesday.

Chester W. Holland of Woburn has been named cashier of the Andover National Bank. He has had 10 years at the First National Bank in Boston.

Regular employees of the Board of Public Works will be getting two days work each week from now to the first of the year. Some $6,000 in the snow removal fund will be utilized to give the men work — most have been laid off because regular appropriations have been exhausted. They will be kept busy screening sand for use on the streets and sidewalks during the bad weather.

Some of the 50 motorists stopped in a Registry of Motor Vehicles trap on South Main st. Tuesday afternoon will lose their licenses. It was the second speed trap here in two weeks, and the Registry feels that definite results can be seen, as motorists slow down.

A football dance will be held next Wednesday evening at the Crystal Ballroom, sponsored by the Athletic Association.

Joseph Black of Harding st. has been named chief engineer at the pumping station by the Board of Public Works.

David M. May has been selected chairman of the nominating committee of the Free Church.

10 Years Ago — November, 1952

There have been 633 new homes built here in the six-year period through 1951. Some 56 units of public housing have also been built, and the figures for 1952 show that more than 124 private housing units will be built in 1952.

It appears now that the big Santa Claus parade will be held Dec. 6.

The new Memorial Gymnasium at Phillips Academy was opened for a preview by the press last week. It will be officially dedicated in February of next year.

Will Present "The Firstborn"

The Community is invited to attend a performance of "The Firstborn", a play by Christopher Fry which will be presented in Christ Church this Sunday evening, at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will be directed by Rex Dennis Parady and the cast is drawn from St. George's Canterbury Chapter, University of New Hampshire Episcopal student group. The play will be presented in two acts, with an intermission.

According to Mr. Parady, "Fry is a major playwright who often writes for chancels, but 'The Firstborn' is not a chancel play. First presented at the Edinburgh Festival in 1948, it has twice been revived — in 1952 with Alec Clunes as Moses, and again in 1958 with Katherine Cornell and Anthony Quayle.

"The play", Parady adds, "concerns the events leading up to the exodus of Moses and the Jews from Egypt in about 1200 B.C., and although the events are accurately reported, they are couched in Fry's poetic language and reflect his Jungian approach to the problem of good and evil.

"This is no typical religious pageant", Parady says, "but a drama written in human terms and calling forth human emotions".

SEVERAL ENROLLED AT WENTWORTH

Three area residents have enrolled in Wentworth Institute Evening School in Boston, according to an announcement by Dr. H. Russell Beatty, Wentworth president.

Localites enrolled at Wentworth include Julius C. Denardi, 156 High st.; Richard A. Chernoff, 4 Longwood dr., and John C. White, 7 Wall st.

What Our Readers Say—

To The Editor of the Townsman:
"Through Urban Renewal, Andover is striving to cure the architectural ugliness that has sprung from past indifference. The town also owes Lincoln Giles a unanimous vote of thanks for the improvements he has made in town design.

"Considering the concern over aesthetic matters that are of such importance, is there not a puzzling inconsistency in the fact that the town allows construction of an architectural monstrosity such as that now being erected on North Main st. below the square? This yellow-hooped fright, smacking of a honky-tonk amusement park, introduces a brand-new blight — a scar for some future generation to erase. Such disregard of the interests of the town would not be allowed within the bounds of the Urban Renewal area — why should it be condoned within a few hundred yards of it?"

"May we hope that town fathers and town planners can find a way to control what happens in all parts of the town, and not just a restricted section of it."

Johnston Bird
18 Alden Road

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"I see that my old acquaintance Karl Haartz is as usual complaining about the Town Manager form of government we now have in Andover. His letter in your Nov. 21st issue mentions 'the high costs of an office of town manager'.

"As in most any business you've got to spend money to make money. Andover has very wisely invested money in the town manager and his staff. Has it paid off? You bet it has, Karl. How many other towns have been able to keep their tax rates from going up for the last three years? Darn few, and we should all be proud that Andover is one of them."

Mathematics Today

The increased interest in mathematics today has prompted the purchase of a number of books on many phases of the subject, and the library has listed some of the titles most recommended in a recent booklist, available to all readers. Here are a few of the books which may be found there: Elements Of Modern Mathematics, Kenneth May; Mathematics In Western Culture, Morris Kline; Basic Concepts In Modern Mathematics, John E. Haffstrom; Introduction To Modern Algebra, Neal McKoy; Integrated Algebra And Trigonometry, Robert Fisher; Introduction To Geometry, H. S. Coxeter; Probability And Statistics, Frederick Mosteller; Set Theory, Norman Hamilton; Mathematics Dictionary, Glenn James (explicit definitions in English of over 7000 math terms, concepts and relationships, with multilingual indexes giving their Russian, German, French and Spanish equivalents); The Growth of Mathematical Ideas, National Council Of Teachers; Introduction To Logic, Alfred Tarski; Tables For Statisticians, Herbert Arkley; The Modern Aspect Of Mathematics, Lucienne Felix; The Computer Revolution, Edmund Berkeley; History Of Calculus, Carl Boyer; The Last Problem, Eric Bell; Facts From Figures, M. J. Moroney (this small book is an amusing attempt to take the reader on a statistician's workshop, with a challenge to "do-it-yourself" for the reader); Geometry And The Imagination, David Hilbert; Mathematical Models, H. Martyn Cundy (detailed instructions for making a wide variety of models illustrating elementary mathematics—dissections, paper-folding, curve-stitching, construction of polyhedra, etc. and includes details of simple electronic adding machines and computers); Insights Into Modern Mathematics, a recent yearbook of the National Council of Teachers Of Mathematics; Number Theory In History, Oystein Ore; The Complete Slide Rule Handbook by Joseph N. Arnold.

All books are now ready for circulation, and may be reserved if not on the shelves.

Something Different

The old, amusing prayer of the menu-maker: "O Lord, please send us another animal!" could be passed if its composer could look into the collection of books on cookery that are on display at the Memorial Hall Library this week. In cooperation with the Homemakers' Club of our community, the library is featuring cook books that would give a lift to the most monotonous menus if the cook would look them over. Make it a point to visit the library during the next few days. You may find in this exhibit something to brighten up that Christmas menu planning that is just about upon us.

Gas Rates To Be Lower

President Harold L. Dalbeck of the Lawrence Gas Company has stated that under a tentative settlement with Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, gas users in this area will receive a reduction in their gas bills, amounting to just under five cents per thousand cubic feet. Total annual savings to customers as a result of this reduction should approximate $150,000.

Also a part of the settlement is a refund which customers will be receiving next year, probably as a credit on their bills. More complete details will be supplied to customers when the agreement is approved by the Federal Power Commission and the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities.

Mr. Dalbeck said the rate reduction and refunds come about as a result of the coordinated efforts of New England gas companies who buy gas from Tennessee Gas Transmission, one of the pipelines delivering natural gas to New England. This settlement is the result of seven years of continuing negotiations and hearings on Tennessee rates.

Be Prepared for Winter

Get the Feel of the Road

Will It Or Won't It?

A quirk of municipal government confronted the Selectmen Monday night.

Selectman James D. Wilson was perplexed by three separate, but related, conversations relating to Plain rd.

About 3/4 of a mile of the road is just an old, dirt path. It might be navigable, but certainly isn't recommended for low-slung automobiles.

A long time ago, the Selectmen considered pressure on the State Department of Public Works to build the overpass at its present location - expressly to prevent the area from being shut off in the future.

After noting this, Wilson then called that Town Counsel Frederick S. O'Brien had recommended abandoning the stretch of road in question - letting it go back to the property owners of record.

But now, he asserted, the fire department believes this to be a key area for the future use of apparatus going to Haggatt's Pond rd.

It was explained that the unused stretch of street is still a town responsibility; possibly, the Selectmen said, town counsel wanted it abandoned as a precaution against any liability. But if it went back to the abutters, they reasoned, the town might have to acquire the land again for road purposes - thus creating an expense for the town.

There was no special solution to the question, after Mr. Wilson noted the varying attitudes on the same subject.

INSPECTION FOR SUB-DIVISIONS

ordered at various stages of construction, so that the town will be assured that all requirements are met throughout the project.

Noting that this may take some extra money, and certainly means additional time, Mr. King predicted many problems of the past and present can be avoided by having regular inspections.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said he is investigating the use of one or two Northeastern University students under the cooperative plan, to provide assistance for Town Engineer Thomas F. X. Flynn. He said Flynn would spend all of his time on subdivision control, as far as the amount of work that needs to be done is concerned.

Will It Or Won't It?

quirk of municipal government confronted the Selectmen today night.

Selectman James D. Wilson was confronted by three separate, but related, conversations relating to Plain rd.

About 3/4 of a mile of the road just an old, dirt path. It might be navigable, but certainly isn't recommended for low-slung automobiles.

A long time ago, the Selectmen considerable pressure on the Department of Public Works to build the overpass at its present location - expressly to prevent the area from being shut off in one stroke.

After noting this, Wilson then called that Town Counsel Frederick S. O'Brien had recommended abandoning the stretch of road in question - letting it go back to the property owners of record.

But now, he asserted, the fire department believes this to be a key road for the future use of apparatus going to Haggett's Pond rd.

It was explained that the unused portion of street is still a town responsibility; possibly, the Selectmen said, town counsel agreed it abandoned as a precaution against any liability. But if it went back to the abutters, they reasoned, the town might have to acquire the land again for road purposes - thus creating an extra for the town.

There was no special solution to the question, after Mr. Wilson noted the varying attitudes on the same subject.

INSPECTION FOR
SUB-DIVISIONS

At various stages of construction, so that the town will be assured that all requirements are met throughout the project.

Noting that this may take some extra money, and certainly means additional time, Mr. King predicted many problems of the past and present can be avoided by having regular inspections.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said he is investigating the use of one or two Northeastern University students under the cooperative plan, to provide assistance for Town Engineer

Thomas F. X. Flynn. He said Flynn could spend all of his time on subdivision control, as far as the amount of work that needs to be done is concerned.

The Planning Board has made clear that the hearing Dec. 10 regulations.

STATISTICAL JUNGLE
IN URBAN RENEWAL

been apparent that many officials
- whose work or profession ordinarily would qualify them to unravel the statistical strands woven around the project - throw up their hands and admit defeat.
Couldn't Be Otherwise

This isn't seen as a fault of the Housing Authority. They have no control over the complex red-tape system established by the federal government, and made worse by sometimes - conflicting and often confusing state laws.

In fact, it's hard to see where local Authority members could have done other than present the plan as required by the government, red tape and all.

But it is also difficult to imagine that any widespread public understanding will be forthcoming, unless the financial picture is clarified.

Can this be done?
Quite some time ago, when one member of the Housing Authority was told that the figures should be simplified to fit on a file card, he answered quite frankly that this is impossible.

Simple Presentation Needed
And even if this should be accomplished, it appears to most observers that the result would meet a doubtful reception. Most voters would want to know how the summary was reached - and here we go again.

But they also agree that, without simplification plus a general agreement on how the statistics are being used and why, there isn't much chance for voter approval in March.

Special Service For Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day began with hymns and a Bible lesson for those attending services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Andover.

The traditional Christian Science service also included the reading of the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation of the President of the United States, and a special period during which many members of the congregation stood up to say how grateful they were for what God has meant in their lives.

Among the Bible readings on the subject of "Thanksgiving" was this verse from Ephesians (1:3): "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ." Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included this sentence: "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings."
